A DIFFERENT KIND OF VOICE FOR LEADERS, TEAMS, AND AUDIENCES.

DeVon Franklin is a speaker who changes how people see their own potential. Whether he's in front of a room of executives, a stadium of dreamers, or a team in transition, he delivers the same thing: a shift. Audiences leave believing they can pursue bold success without losing themselves to get there.

What makes him rare on stage is the life behind the message. DeVon is a New York Times bestselling author, an award-winning film producer, and an ordained minister—a combination that lets him speak to ambition and integrity, achievement and faith, success and self-worth, without ever choosing between them. Oprah calls him "a different kind of spiritual teacher." Variety named him one of its "Top 10 Producers to Watch."

As founder and CEO of DeVon Franklin Entertainment, DeVon Franklin has built an enduring career at the intersection of entertainment, leadership and inspiration. He has a feature film deal with Netflix, and he has produced acclaimed films including Flamin' Hot, Breakthrough, Ruth & Boaz and Miracles from Heaven. He also holds a first-look television deal with CBS Studios and is developing a reboot of the beloved series 7th Heaven.

DeVon rose through the Hollywood studio system to become the youngest Senior Vice President of Production in Sony Pictures Entertainment history. He also served six years as a Governor-at-Large for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Onstage, however, DeVon's impact goes far beyond his résumé. With passion, humor and heart, he challenges leaders, teams and audiences to break free from limiting expectations, lead with integrity and perform at their highest level. He meets people where they are and gives them the tools to succeed without sacrificing who they truly are.
